

Uson Marine HSE – Health, Safety and Environment Policy

Uson Marine has a commitment for all company employees and partners. Our business is to be run with long term responsibility for our exploitation of resources and minimal effect on earth, air and water.

Through waste recycling we assist our customers and their clients to reduce the environmental impact of their operations. This is fulfilled by the choice of partners, materials and material recycling.

Throughout all our processes and all changes of partners, products and organisation, the consequences for safety and environment are to be analysed and is basis for decisions.

We shall continuously and systematically monitor and improve the existing business to bring in necessary knowledge to minimise risks to people, environment and property. The working environment is to be such that risks for injuries and bad health is minimised.

We shall have an open and trustworthy communication both within and outside the organisation.

We are to fulfill or exceed the applicable laws and regulations.
